

McNeese State University

McNeese State University invites qualified applicants and nominations for two positions of Assistant Professor of Mathematics. For a detailed job description and application process visit <http://www.mcneese.edu/hr> or contact: Dr. Anne Dye at (337)-475-5794 or dye@mcneese.edu.

Position Description and Responsibilities: The Assistant Professor is responsible for functions related to excellent teaching of service, upper level, and graduate level mathematics courses and a demonstrated ability to produce scholarly activity. The Assistant Professor will work closely with the department head, faculty and students in the department of mathematics, Computer Science and Statistics, and students enrolled in mathematics service courses.

Qualifications: Required: Ph. D. in mathematics. All degree requirements must be completed before August 15, 2007.

McNeese State University is an AA/EEO/ADA employer committed to excellence through diversity.